Station Soccer

Soccer Station is the first miniature soccer field inside a train station in the world. Built on what was originally designed as an amphitheater at Little Five Points Station, Station Soccer is a public-private partnership lead by Soccer in the Streets with support from MARTA, Atlanta United Foundation, GreenFields and Musco Lighting. This project is the first of its kind that connects soccer, health education, and life-skills programing with transportation for low-income and disadvantaged youth who cite transportation cost as an affordability barrier for extracurricular activities.

Station Soccer is bringing together adults and youth alike with adult leagues during the week and youth leagues during the midweek and weekends.
